FUNERAL OF MISS MARGARET MCGREE

Largest Ever Seen in Bassano, Manifest
Expressions of Regret

PUPILS SEND WILDFLOWERS

Whole of Bassano Turned Out to Offer
Respects to Deceased's Memory

The remains of Miss Margaret McGree who died from typhoid fever on Sunday morning last were interred at the Roman Catholic cemetery, Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a multitude of mourners.

Miss McGree, who belonged to one of the pioneer families of Bassano, was well known and liked, and the funeral was the largest that has ever been held in the town.

Crowds paid their respect at the house, and a large concourse in rig and coat followed the remains to the graveyard in spite of the prevailing dull cold weather. The coffin, a handsome steel grey, half coach casket was liberally buried in flowers, tributes to her popularity from her numerous friends. This was borne by six pall bearers to the house. The last and time were conducted at the house and graveyard by Father Simons of Gleichen who was called to the unfortunate girl in-modately it was known she could not recover.

Miss McGree was only seventeen years of age. She came to Bassano with her family from Idaho three years ago and had been living at Bassano or at the farm of her father north ever since. Two months ago she joined the staff of the telephone exchange and was distinguished for her invariable courtesy. She was only seized with the dread disease that ultimately carried her off two weeks ago. It came in a violent form and in spite of the skill and efforts of Drs. Scott and Harris she fell a victim at three o'clock on Sunday morning. It is a peculiarly unfortunate feature that her brother Thomas was also lying seriously sick in the house and he is still confined to bed. Father Simons was summoned from Gleichen when it was seen there was no hope. Relatives hastily hurried to the scene and were all at Bassano for the funeral. Floral tributes simply flocked in until the casket was concealed.

Among those sending flowers were: W. M. Pettin, J. H. Miller, W. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. E. C. Harris, spray; Miss Kemp, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Morgan, spray; G. H. Gohert, cross; E. B. Malt, wreath; E. Hunter, Miss Sharrow, Miss McCordy; Mrs. T. Davis, jar of flowers; R. V. Travis, W. Larson.

Experts Report Bassano Flax Best To Be Had—J. T. Hazelrigg is Selecting it For Advertising Purposes

BANNER CROP YEAR OF BASSANO AND VICINITY

For distribution to all parts of the globe the C. P. R. is selecting its flax samples from the Murchison-Weins farm in the Bassano district, a fact that will imply much advertising for this vicinity.

The flax experts of the C. P. R. after inspecting all the crops in the Calgary district reported that grown around Bassano as the best procurable.

Accordingly J. T. Hazelrigg recognized as an authority upon flax was delegated by the company to select samples of flax to be used by them in distribution to all parts of the globe as illustrative of the productivity of the Western Canadian prairies.

Mr. Hazelrigg who took the majority of the flax from the Murchison-Weins farm declares it is about the finest he has ever seen. It will run around nineteen and twenty bushels to the acre, a heavy yield for that particular grain, and should grade No 1 Northern.

Binders at work on barley of H. W. Pettin, north of town. Mr. Pettin was cutting, binding, and stacking one hundred acres per day by this modern method.

This is the first banner year of the Bassano district since it was settled three years ago, and with the grain all out and on the point of being threshed it is proved beyond all shadow of doubt that this is the richest and most reliable grain area in the West.

There is not a poor or even very fair field in the vicinity. They are all yielding heavily, and the demand upon the local elevator is likely to be more than it is able to cope with.

Grain of all kinds grow abundantly. On the farms of Pettin and Piel. Murchison and Mow, Smith and Saar, Leighton, Conalta, Buckeye ranch, the Indians boys, the Canadian Development company and DeWitts tale is the same; and the country under crop is one rich ripe gold.

The extraordinary yield of flax will bear favorable comparison with any district in Western Canada, and it is extremely doubtful if such good records as were made around Bassano exist in any other district.

DAM WILL BE FINISHED BY FALL

Work Being Rushed and Test May Be Made This Year

With the concrete facing on the earth work part of the Dam rapidly nearing completion, it is practically established that the five million dollar work of the C. P. R. planned to dam the water of the Bow river to supply irrigation ditches around Bassano will be tested this Fall.

The large cement Dam which spans the western end of Horse Shoe Bend is completed; the gates and the turbine to raise and lower the gates are all in place.

Work on the earthwork stretching across the flatter for over a mile has been rushed all summer, and as it has been put up has been faced with cement. It is now only a short distance from its extreme end, and it is practically certain will be completed within two months. Huge gangs are working at high pressure day and night to finish it within the specified time, which is this Fall. Barring accidents the possibilities are it will be completed in time.

The testing of the Dam will take about four days. No expense nor scientific ingenuity has been spared to make it as safe and substantial as engineers can make it and little anxiety exists as to the result of the test. The only danger if any lies in seepage. Some trouble was experienced at the Kananaskis Dam on the Bow from this cause after the completion of the Dam, the earth below remedied at considerable expense later, but this has served as experience in the construction of the Horse Shoe Dam and no anxiety at all is felt that the Dam may be undermined.

In the meanwhile work is being rushed on the other all over the western irrigation belt, thousands of men under scores of contractors, digging ditches and harnessing and constructing bridges and canals and conduits and tunnels. It is certain that a year from this Fall's completion of the work in the belt will be completed and that the score of miles of ditches will be tested.

Mrs. E. G. Corlette returned this week from an extended holiday trip to see friends in Minneapolis and El Paso Texas.

BASSANO BOUND TO BECOME LARGE CENTRE

Says W. Marshall Stewart of Weyburn, a Bassano Investor

WIDER FIELD THAN WEYBURN

Inclined to Criticize Lack of Appointment of City Engineer

"From your location from the country surrounding you, from the railroads entering your town; I am firmly convinced that Bassano will become a large city," was the opinion of W. Marshall Stewart of Weyburn, Sask., who visited Bassano this week.

Mr. Stewart can forecast with some authority for he is one of the original boosters of Weyburn, which even Toronto to Saturday Night now considers is one of the established centres of the West, and he has bought his ability to pick out a coming city by bitter experience.

"Weyburn did not even have the natural advantages which Bassano possesses at this moment, when we first started to push it," he said. "The struggle was a hard one, and it often seemed as if we were trying the impossible. But we knew we had the territory and we stuck to it through thick and thin until at last we had our reward. Now Weyburn has another railroad coming into it besides being on the main short route to the coast."

"Bassano has every reason to expect to be a centre too. You have as much territory as Weyburn had. You are far enough away from any big city. You have railroads entering from four directions. You have a rich farming country tributary which is rapidly settling. You are beside the centre of the irrigation scheme of the C. P. R. and have at your door the five million dollar dam which will be a sight to all time for tourists from all parts of the world. You are rich in natural gifts even compared with Weyburn. There is no reason in the world why you should not grow."

Mr. Stewart who is studying the municipal affairs of Bassano with some interest is an advocate of the city engineer idea. "If you were appointed now he would save you far more than his salary, besides ensuring better work. Weyburn is in a position to get thousands of dollars for lack of a city engineer, and I am sure you would find that a competent city engineer would have saved you a great deal of money on the installation of the waterworks. However it appears to be too late now."

Mr. Stewart who has large holdings in Bassano left for the east Monday.

ALBERT BOYCE HIDING IN BASSANO IN SPRING SLAIN IN TEXAS

Amarillo, Texas, Sept. 13.—John Paul Sned, a traveling salesman, who shot and killed Captain A. G. Boyce, son of Captain Boyce, the killing took place in front of the first Methodist church here. Sned was disguised as a farmer wearing overalls, a bandanna, and a straw hat. One load was fired through Boyce's body at close range. Yesterday's killing put a tragic climax to a series of startling events which began when Al Boyce eloped with Mrs. Lena Sned, wife of the slayer last winter.

Mrs. Sned, just before her elopement had been placed in a Fort Worth sanatorium by her husband. When the couple eloped Boyce carried with him $100,000. They went from here to St. Louis, thence to New York, and were arrested in Winnipeg, Canada. Young Boyce had been in Amarillo only a week. It was not known that Sned was in the city so completely had he hidden his identity. Albert, until he came here a week ago, had been living in the city. He did not recognize Sned on the street. Sned immediately surrendered and refused to make a statement. Feeling it raining high here as the Boyces have thousands of friends and supporters only a few weeks ago, Mrs. Lena Sned and her husband had become notorious. They were supposed to be living happily in Georgetown, Texas. At Sned's trial here last winter for killing Captain Boyce the jury deliberated and his second trial for this crime is set for November 11.

Sned was carrying his shot gun concealed in a long coat. The shot he fired penetrated Boyce's breast. Sned has fired his Fort Worth attorneys to come and protect him. The few witnesses who saw Sned shoot beside the church steps, and the walls of the church were covered with Boyce's blood. Mrs. Boyce mother of the victim, is prostrated tonight. Sned came here a week ago and hired a small shanty where he stayed. Witnesses said Sned fired three times and after the first shot Boyce fell to the ground and exclaimed: "Please don't kill me!" but Sned fired two more loads into his body. Sned was calm and indifferent throughout. Al Boyce, the slain man, also was a cowboy, cattleman and expert shot.

Albert Boyce, well known to Bassano people, remaining in concealment at this spot last spring immediately after the Winnipeg incident. He made numerous friends during his stay of eight weeks here and was found, if a trifle nervous, fairly congenial. He left, leaving no word as to where he was going with Ben Smith, the assumption at that time being that he was inspecting ranch land in Western Canada.

LEG TORN OFF BY PASSING DUMP TRAIN

Laborer is Fatally Hurt at Dam—Dies on Way to Hospital

Falling from a dump car drawn by a dinky engine at the Dam Monday night, Alfred laborer in Great South and Co.'s camp had his leg torn from his body. He died on the train on the way to a Calgary hospital.

Blow was on the night shift and was riding from one part of the work to another on the dump car. He lost his balance crossing the earth work and was underneath one of the cars. Although the train was stopped at once the wheels passed over his leg, almost severing it.

The ghastly wound was dressed with a rough tourniquet on the spot, and he was rushed in care of Ralph Quirk by auto to Bassano. Dr. E. C. Harris completed the dressing and sent him to Calgary on the midnight train. Blow was then weak and suffering from considerable loss of blood and he died on the train.

Huge Arena For Lethbridge Dry Farming Congress

Lethbridge, Alta., Sept.—Ground was broken the first week in September for the erection of an auditorium capable of seating 2,000 people, with stage room for upwards of 800 more in preparation for the big meetings of the International Dry Farming Congress to be held here the fourth week in October. With only five weeks ahead in which to construct, the mammoth task, the contractors have a large force of men employed, and are pushing the work with might and main.

The auditorium is being built by C. J. Holstrom, a public spirited citizen who recognized that the hall facilities were likely to be inadequate for the congress and who offered to make the building complete and turn it over to the board of control for their use on October 10th. Although a week or so delayed in the building of operations, there is every assurance and promise that it will be completed by the time set.

It is contemplated to hold a grand orchestral concert one or two evenings.

Better Dinners

"Is dinner ready, Mary?"

"Yes, Madam—it is ready, and, I think, a great success."

"Your cooking is improving."

"Well perhaps it is, and I hope so, but really Mrs. Housewife, I think our new Gurney-Oxford is partly responsible for the success I have had lately. I was never able to cook roasts and fowl so well on our old stove, and as for bread and biscuits, I used to tremble when I went to take them from the oven—they were so often soggy and heavy. Now they are always light and beautifully brown, and, if I do say it myself, something to be proud of."

"That's true, Mary, my husband has said almost the same thing. I'm awfully glad you approve of my choice of a Gurney-Oxford. He approves because of the saving in coal since we got it, also because of the better meals he is getting."

"Indeed he's right Madam—and it requires so little attention."

"That's fine. Will you serve dinner in a few minutes please."
